

TO: Interested Parties
 FROM: Future Majority
 RE: Support for President Biden's Jobs Plan & Proposals to Pay for It
 DATE: April 29, 2021

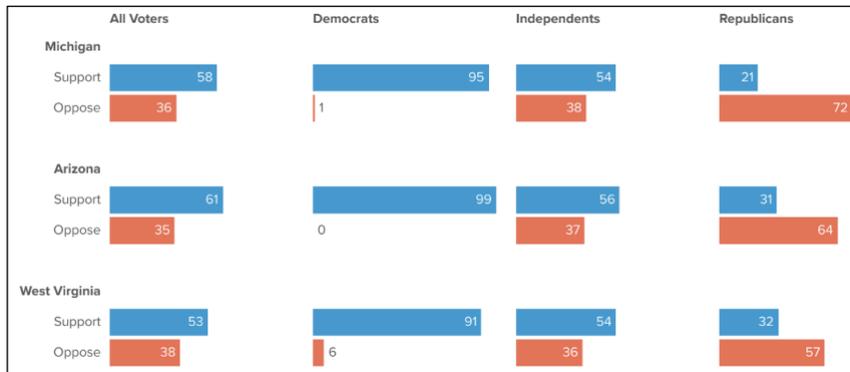

White House senior advisor Anita Dunn released a memo on President Biden's tax proposals, including overall national support for the provisions. Over the past two months, Future Majority has surveyed voters in 37 swing congressional districts decided by +/- 5 points (Change Research survey of 993 voters, March 19-22, 2021), as well as the states of Arizona, Michigan, and West Virginia (Change Research survey of 2,842 voters, April 13-17, 2021), on President Biden's American Jobs Plan and how to pay for it. We will conduct a follow up survey after President Biden's joint address to Congress to learn more about how voters' attitudes toward the provisions of the American Families Plan proposal.

Overall Support:

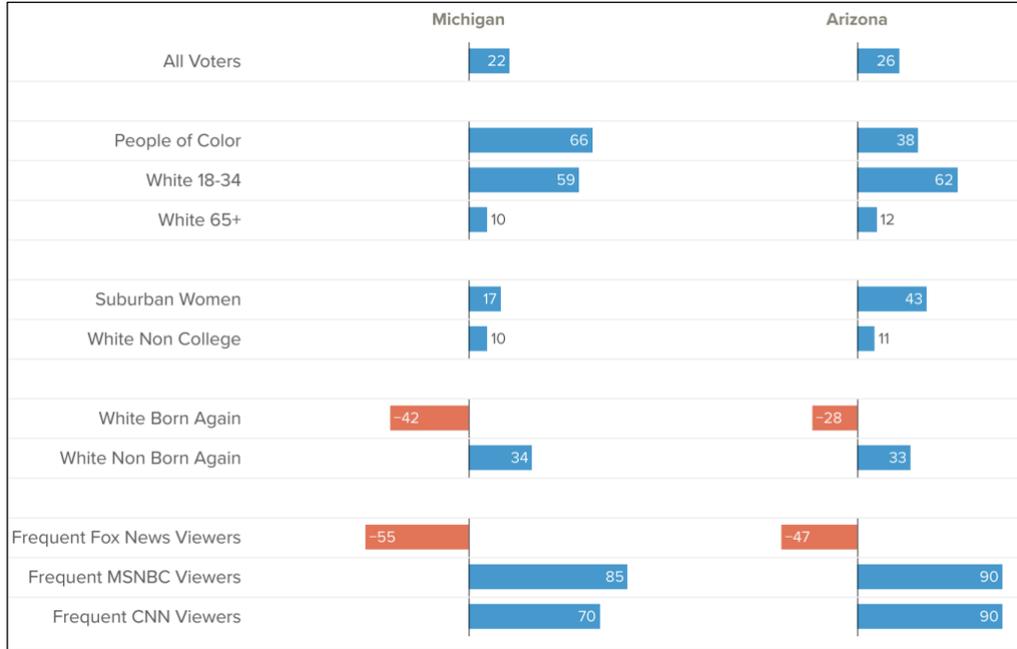

- When asked if voters support or oppose a $2 trillion investment in manufacturing, infrastructure, and technology to create 5 million new jobs for Americans, 65% of all voters in +/- 5 congressional districts support the proposal.

- When asked the same question, more than half of voters in Arizona, Michigan, and West Virginia supported the proposal, including 54%+ of Independents in the states.

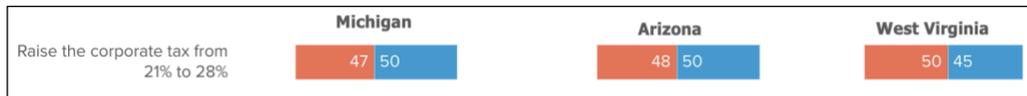

- Among specific voter demographics in Michigan and Arizona, the overall infrastructure proposal earns the support of +22% of all voters in Michigan and +26% of all voters in Arizona.

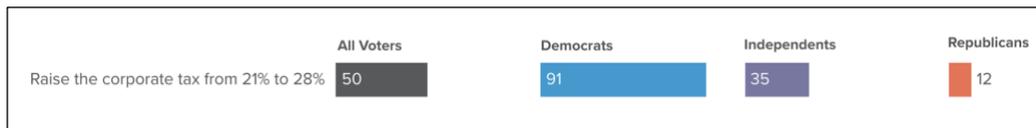

Raising Corporate Taxes

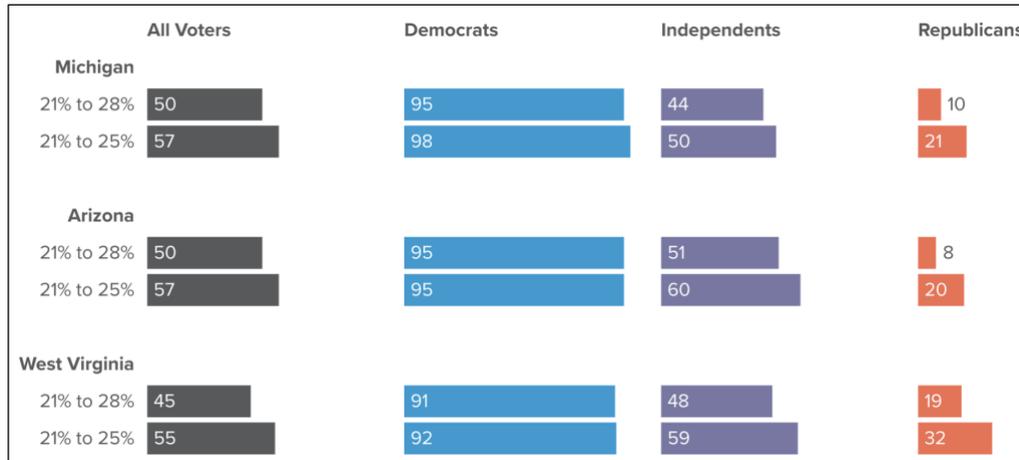

- Support for raising the corporate tax rate from 21% to 28% is split nearly evenly among voters in Arizona, Michigan, and West Virginia.

- Support for raising the corporate tax rate from 21% to 28% earns the support of 50% of voters in the 37 congressional districts won or lost by 5 points in 2020.

- We also surveyed voters on an alternate plan to fund infrastructure investments by increasing the corporate tax rate to 25% instead of 28%. This provision increases support from the 28% proposed increase in corporate tax among all voters by 7-10%.

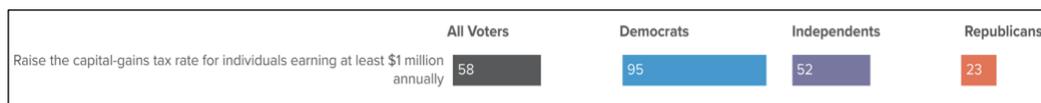

Raising the Capital-Gains Tax

- Support for raising capital-gains tax to pay for the infrastructure investment is broadly popular among voters in Arizona (58% approve), Michigan (61% approve), and West Virginia (60% approve).

- Notably, in our survey 62% of Independents in Arizona, 59% of Independents in Michigan, and 62% of Independents in West Virginia support raising the capital-gains tax.
- 58% of voters, including 52% of Independents, in +/- 5 congressional districts support raising the capital-gains tax on individuals earning at least $1 million annually.

- Suburban women in Arizona and Michigan largely support raising the capital-gains tax, with 66% and 60% of suburban women voters respectively supporting the proposal.

Gas Tax

- Support for raising the gas tax is low across party lines:
 - Michigan: 46% of Democrats, 82% of Independents, and 99% of Republicans in Michigan oppose the proposal.
 - Arizona: 46% of Democrats, 68% of Independents, and 93% of Republicans in Michigan oppose the proposal.
 - West Virginia: 70% of Democrats, 87% of Independents, and 94% of Republicans in Michigan oppose the proposal.